

ABSTRACT

Organic superlattices formed by molecular layer epitaxy (MLE), and a novel MLE method of forming organic molecular monolayers are disclosed. The method utilized covalent linkage, combined with self-cleaning layer growth, to form pi-stacked, ordered, oriented monomolecular layers for use in a variety of electronic applications.